

Expressing themselves in the integration and subordination of Palestinian labor to Israeli capital, these changes represent the subordination of the sectarian "laws" of unevenness inherent in the exclusivist nature of Zionism to the secular laws of unevenness inherent in capitalist accumulation on a world scale.

It is concluded that these changes provide an objective basis for Israeli-Palestinian joint class struggle.